

Podcast 0: Invitation to the Path of Honor

Welcome to Entrepreneurs of Christ, a podcast for men who want to escape the day job and answer the call to entrepreneurship, all while building their relationship with Christ.

Welcome to Entrepreneurs of Christ, a podcast for men of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-days Saints who feel called to entrepreneurship but are stuck in their corporate job.

There is a pandemic going on in our world. It's not COVID, although we're suffering from that, too. This pandemic is completely different. It's more subtle and silent than any disease. It's the pandemic of disengagement. And it's the #1 thing you experience if you are a Duty-Bound Dad.

What is a Duty-Bound Dad? You have the corporate job. The kids. The church calling.

The duty bound dad is the man who follows the well-worn path dutifully walked by so many members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. You get married, you have the kids, go to college, you get the job, you get the mortgage, you go to grad school. You show up at church and you fulfill your calling.

And all the while, you're dying to escape to entrepreneurship. You want a business, but the big three--kids, calling, career--are killing your dream.

This is your prison. And this podcast is your escape. It's about escaping your schedule. Owning your time. And living the dream. Not the duty. It's about leaving the hum-drum life that's frustrating you. And finally getting what you want.

Who am I to talk about this? Well, I got out. I started my six figure business, while still working my corporate job, and then I transitioned into full time entrepreneurship without skipping a beat. Kids. Calling. Corporate responsibilities. I took care of it all--following my Path of Honor Program to entrepreneurship. I was able to build my business and safely transition out of corporate, without dipping into capital, to become a six+ figure entrepreneur.

How do you escape the dutiful life of the duty-bound dad? The problem is DISengagement. And the solution is engagement. We're going to get you engaged in the process of getting clients. Conquering the clock. And not needing capital to get your business going.

When this happens, you, too, will escape corporate. You'll create your successful business. And some serious cash flow. That's what we're talking about in this show.

So if you want to answer the prompting you've had to entrepreneurship and do it all without skipping a beat. Go ahead and click subscribe on your phone and we'll start having some fun.
